

Until Bill Durbin is heard from, what is now set forth will be on the assumption that the number of young men and women who joined the Colors from Narberth and its immediate vicinity was not much more than the equivalent of an infantry battalion. From a small square-mile section such as this, that is a huge host, but compared with the millions which comprised the American forces it could be granted that the war might well have been won without the contribution of this neighborhood.

Nevertheless, the tales of activities which are regarded in official archives as the most noteworthy of all the episodes of a terrible war carry with them evidence of Narberth participation, of some kind or other. Here they are, young persons from a small American suburb, and one would not be too effusive if he appeared to see the whole thousand of them as having been distributed here and there in a highly informed manner, to aid their country's cause where it was most vulnerable and where, perhaps, only the stoutest could best serve in the fierce work that had to be done.

Check where one will and there will be testimony that Narberth was in there where the fighting was thickest and where tasks had to be accomplished. Of the small squad of well-checked men secretly at work in the closely guarded atom bomb experiments in New Mexico that preceded Hiroshima, one came from Narberth. Other specially selected Borough lads were among the very first to arrive in England. Also they were included among the hard-pressed troops who landed in France on "D" Day and before that in Casablanca. In the most glaring fall-down of American strategy in all the war, resulting in the decimation of the 106th Division at the Battle of the Bulge, a Narberth boy was the only one of his entire company left alive. Also it will be recalled that local lads were shot down over Germany time after time, as they nightly flew the bombers of the never-to-be-forgotten 8th Air Force.

In the Eastern theaters they also soared the skies, on an almost suicidal scale, for it was necessary day after day for a young man from this section to fly askew as he protected the camera planes as they photographed Okinawa and other places before the attacks started. Come what might, he had to stay put and accept unmoved the Japanese attacks so that there would be no slip-up in securing the pictures which were insistently needed so that every shot would count when the island invasions were finally ordered.

Also it will be recalled with sadness the precious price which was paid when a grand Narberth boy was lost when his ship on its way to Archangel with Russian supplies was torpedoed in the frigid seas by the Germans, calling on him for the supreme sacrifice.

Always in the important arenas of war, on land and sea, and in the air, the stalwart sons from these parts could be found, and if the accountability called for a particular integrity, an assured character and proven courage, then depend on it that the town was ably represented.

Certainly this was so at Manila, with MacArthur, for it was a borough boy who worked close to the big boss in the Department of Intelligence and Plans, the most confidential of all war procedure. Also at Tokio this town was there, the first day of occupation, and pride is indeed dulled, and imagination in sorry flight, if one does not draw some special thrill from what this little place where we live contributed to victory as a result of being directly concerned in so many important events of all the war theaters.

All this is in constant memory, but reflection on it is particularly revived by learning that a Narberth young man was on the Missouri, right at the heels of Admiral Nimitz, when the Japs drank their gall and wormwood as they came aboard to sign the unconditional surrender. In view of the record at large, this further distinction for our habitat could quite well be expected. The incident points up the suggestion that our Penn Valley neighbor, Ben Hibbs, would have been doing this village a good turn if he had printed in his Admiral Halsey articles in the Saturday Evening Post that Albert G. Cedarstrom, Jr., of Narberth, the eye-witness at the show down, had transcribed the skeleton of the series now running after taking the notes from the doughty admiral himself at Gene Tunney's cottage at Hobe Sound, Florida, a full month's chore.

It's a great tale, the manner in which Albert, a first-class yegman, came to be the Admiral's "writer," the equivalent of his personal secretary, when the fleet moved from the Philippines to the business proper around Japan, and not the least of it is the close touch he had with Captain Stassen, who had resigned as Minnesota's Governor, in order to get into the scrap. Al is all for Stassen as our next president, and he hopes his good patron will make the grade.

If some one had not made an error (perhaps a WAC) Al would have landed in Australia under MacArthur's Naval Commander, as his original orders indicated he was to serve under COM-SO-WES-PAC, which meant the Southwest Pacific. When he received his papers the WES had been omitted, and so he was headed for COM-SO-PC, which meant Admiral Halsey. The confusion caused a lot of kicking around, with a long stay in Caledonia, and it was only after nearly two years service and at the end of a furlough, when he was told he had been called for personally by name to get on the job with the Admiral himself, and that quickly, hence a flight from California to Hawaii, Guam and to the Philippines, where the Missouri was then located.

Don't lay it on, says Al, nor is that the intent, but Narberth has a right to know about these things, and to tell the young man that the town is deeply appreciative because he has so grandly added to its traditions, and that the part he played is such a significant supplement to the war record of a little suburban place whose thousand valiant young persons impressed themselves so extraordinarily on the gratitude of their nation and in a manner not exceeded by vastly larger communities.

Little wonder that Fourth of July seems to mean more to Narberth than other other place, hereabouts.

Autocar, Union Sign Contract At St. Colman's

New Wage Scales Follow National UAW-CIO Pattern

An increase of more than half a million dollars for the twenty-two hundred employees of Autocar Company of Ardmore was contained in the contract signed Saturday between representatives of the company and Local 131, UAW-CIO.

Representatives of the Local said that the Company appeared "more than willing" to concede the union's demands for an 11 1/2-cent increase across the board, following the national pattern laid down by UAW officials. Also contained in the contract, signed in St. Colman's Church after nearly a month of negotiations, was a provision for six paid holidays for workers. They are New Year's Day, Christmas, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Decoration Day and the Fourth of July.

The union's present two-year contract expires on Dec. 3, 1947. A 30-day notice of the reopening of negotiations was given to Company officials on April 27, and the meetings got under way on May 27.

The Autocar Company issued the following statement at the conclusion of negotiations:

"The Management of the Autocar Company has granted to all their hourly employees a wage increase of 11 1/2 cents an hour and six paid holidays, in conformity with the pattern of cost-of-living increases that are being given this year by nearly all the heavy industries. This agreement was cordially and overwhelmingly ratified by the membership of Local 131, UAW-CIO, at a meeting in St. Colman's Hall last Saturday. The change in hourly pay was made retroactive to June 2."

Signing for the Company was Adolph Gelpke, vice-president in charge of production; William Breaux, chairman of negotiations and secretary to the president of Autocar, and four other representatives of management.

J. J. Lear, chairman of the negotiating committee for Local 131, John Arroyo, president of the Local, and seven other union members signed for the workers.

The Boro's Raymond Kauffman family were feeling mighty lucky on Sunday when they went to Harrisburg to visit his parents. . . . School Fight Seen in Township; Merion Men Enter; Director Quiet

Contests over township commissioner, school director and magistrate posts were seen this week in Lower Merion as petitions went into circulation for both Republican and Democratic nominations.

Saturday, June 21, was the first date for candidates for party nominations to start circulating petitions for places on the ballot for the primaries, September 9. July 21 is the last date these nomination petitions can be filed, and then the candidates will have another week in which they can change their minds and retire.

Seven places on the Lower Merion Board of Commissioners, three on the School Board and one magistrate's position are to be filled this Fall.

Of the seven commission vacancies to be filled contests were seen shaping up in two of the districts—Cynwyd and West Manayunk.

Arskine aBina, Cynwyd, commissioner and Philadelphia leather goods merchant, is not expected to seek office again. It is reported that Bains, who is vice-president of Lower Merion's governing board, has informed several public officials that he would not file for the office. T. Ewing Montgomery, solicitor of the Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club, is being proposed for the post. Montgomery, an attorney with offices in Philadelphia, lives at 3 E. Newfield Way, Cynwyd.

In Pencoyd at this date it looks like a three-way contest. Joseph Wright, the commissioner in Pencoyd, which embraces West Manayunk and Cynwyd Estates, would like to continue in office. But two other possible candidates are talking about running. They are Rocco Burdo and Dr. Franklin A. Chapan.

88-Year-Old Lady Just Tired, Lonely—Wanted to Die

On Tuesday afternoon a lonely, despondent old lady closed all the windows in her kitchen at 232 Iona Ave., Narberth, placed a chair before the stove and turned on the gas.

Then she sat down and quietly waited for death.

Early in the evening, neighbors missed her and called police. When they arrived, they found a note on the back door warning against entry through the kitchen.

Entering through a side door, they found 88-year-old Mrs. A. Julius Kuylenstjerna in the gas-filled kitchen.

Montgomery County Coroner W. J. Rushong termed her death suicide.

Her neighbors said Mrs. Kuylenstjerna had been despondent since the death of her husband on March 16. She was a Swedish subject with no known relatives in this country.

The Swedish consul in Philadelphia will make funeral arrangements. Mrs. Kuylenstjerna was sole heir to her husband's $48,862 estate.

LABEL DOG SHOW 'MOST SUCCESSFUL'

Calling the 27th Annual Dog Show of the Bryn Mawr Kennel Club, on Saturday, at the Narberth Borough Playground, the "most successful ever," officials this week expected total gate receipts to run considerably higher than any in the club's history.

Proceeds will go again this year to the Narberth Volunteer Medical Corps, which will use them to aid in the purchase of a new ambulance. Although the final figures were not available, a spokesman for the Kennel Club, a non-profit organization, said they expected to turn over close to $1000 to the corps, which was the beneficiary for the second year.

Dr. Mervyn Ross Taylor, president of the Kennel Club, said there were nearly 700 entries, and that approximately 3500 persons were admitted at the gate. The Volunteer Medical Corps assisted the Kennel Club, served luncheon refreshment booths on the grounds

Contributors to Be Published Next Week In 'Our Town'

Carl B. Metzger, Jr., Treasurer of the Fourth of July Fund, reports donations are arriving at a rate which gives promise that there will be a substantial surplus for playground improvements. Next week's Our Town will print a preliminary list of the sponsors, those who contribute $2.00 or more.

Metzger has requested that those who have not yet sent in their contributions should endeavor to do so by Monday of next week, in order that the first edition of the honor roll will attest in unmistakable manner that this annual patriotic celebration has the whole-hearted support of Narberth citizens. Our Town comes out a day earlier next week because of the holiday and that fact makes the Monday deadline necessary for the contributors' list.

William P. Davies, general chairman of the committee, states that William S. Howard, chairman of the evening program, had placed the contract for the fireworks on a basis which will assure a longer show than ever before and also a greater variety of pyrotechnic novelties.

This means in turn that the cost of the displays will be greater than ever before, but the committee states that it is impressed that the people have demonstrated their conviction that there is no adequate substitute for fireworks in celebrating Independence Day, and if the (Continued on Page Three)

Doc Howard Will Lead the Grand March

One of the most important activities of the extensive community celebration of the Fourth will be the sport events to be held at the Community Playground beginning at 11 A. M.

William P. Davies, general chairman of the celebration, stated that Sterling Chain, chairman of the Narberth Day Committee, and his workers, have been tireless in their efforts to make this Fourth outstanding. This part of the program is designed to give the children an opportunity for active participation in the day's activities.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the children placing first, second or third in each of the several classes of events. First prize will consist of $1; second prize, 50c, and third prize, 25c. In order to give as many children as possible an opportunity to win a prize, it has been decided to limit the number of prizes each individual is eligible to one in each of the three classes. That is, one individual may be able to win a first second and third prize.

The sports activities are divided into several classes according to age groups. Boys and girls in each age group will be eligible for prizes. In addition events have been planned for single men and women and married men and women. These events proved to be one of the highlights of last year's activities.

Mrs. Mabel Hunsicker has charge of the 4-6 age group. The events include: potato race, 30-yard dash, shoe scramble, 30-yard marble and spoon race, and 30-yard backward race.

Richard Gillis has charge of the 7-8 age group. The events include: 50-yard dash, 50-yard marble and spoon race, potato race, sack race, and standing broad jump.

CHOOSING A CAREER

BUSINESS EDUCATION

By CHARLOTTE THOMAS
Administrator, Adelphia Business School

After graduation, the great majority of students find themselves confronted with the obstacle "How to intelligently fit into the future." Lack of experience prevents them from quickly finding their right places.

The field of business offers you a variety of specialized opportunities, such as selling, advertising, accounting, secretarial work and administration of businesses.

In business one finds pleasant working conditions, congenial associates and leisure time for personal interests and hobbies. If you want an occupation that would provide varied work, a friendly environment, interesting duties and a position of importance, why not try a business career?

Business schools are right to the point—all practical subjects in the curriculum—no geometry, biology, zoology or botany. The curriculum is made up of courses one can use in every-day life.

Accountants and bookkeepers are required to handle the growing volume of records to be kept by business. Young men are needed to be developed as future executives. Executives are looking for well-trained secretaries and stenographers. You can prepare quickly for an office position, while there is still such a wide choice of opportunities.

If you want to be independent financially and socially and develop a personality that will make you eligible for the best opportunities—try a business course and insure a successful and interesting future.

Helen Louise Orr Becomes Bride In Pretty Ceremony Saturday

White calla lilies, gladioli and delphinium, mixed with soft ferns, served as a lovely floral background at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Alfred LaMont Orr, of 101 Elmwood Ave., Narberth, Saturday afternoon, when their daughter, Miss Helen Louise Orr, became the bride of Harry Ellsworth Smith, Jr., son of Mrs. H. E. Smith, of Atlantic City, N. J., and the late Mr. Smith. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Roger Huber, of the Second Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia.

The bride was escorted by her father, who also gave her in marriage, through a natural aisle formed of white satin ribbon which was held by six of her closest friends. She wore a white gown featuring an off-the-shoulder lace bodice filled in with chiffon, long pointed sleeves of the lace, and a wide satin skirt ending in a train. Her finger-tip length tulle veil was caught with a crown of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias.

Mrs. E. Gates Sturgis, of Ardmore, served as matron of honor for her sister, and another sister, Mrs. William Stak O'Sullivan, of West

Philadelphia, who was married this past Saturday, was the bridesmaid.

The six bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Breon, of State College, Pa.; Miss Ann Darrah, of Ardmore; Miss Mabel Ewing, of Penn Valley; Mrs. Norman Wermick, of McConnellsburg, Pa.; Miss Betty Sommer, of New York, formerly of Philadelphia; and Miss Verne Witchee, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Sturgis wore a butter yellow faille gown made on simple lines, with a full skirt and short sleeves. Her tiny yellow hat was edged with tulle and centered with blue delphinium and she carried a bouquet of the delphinium and yellow roses. Mrs. O'Sullivan wore a similar gown of aqua faille with a matching tulle braid in her hair, and a bouquet of roses and delphinium. The bridesmaids wore flowing gowns in soft pastel shades, with corsages of gardenias.

Mr. E. Gates Sturgis acted as best man. There were no ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony. After a wedding trip to Lake George, N. Y., the couple will reside temporarily in Atlantic City.

Main Line Loop Leads Retained by Narberth and Berwyn Tossers

By HARRY ELLSWORTH

Narberth's defending champions and an improving Berwyn club maintained their leads in the Eastern and Western Divisions of the Main Line Baseball League.

Narberth, one game ahead of fast-striding Manoa, tackled "good hit, no pitch" West Chester at Narberth on Saturday and will visit Joe Irvin's sagging Drexel Hillers on Sunday. Gene Davis will send Charlie Gunther and either Albie Becker or George Davidson to mound.

Berwyn, enjoying a three-game lead over second-place Norristown in the upper half of the loop, meets the County Seaters and West Chester in week-end outings.

Norristown will be met at Berwyn on Saturday, with the Pirates traveling to West Chester on Sunday. Ted Dawson and Dan Cogan, Malvern lad and a product of Berwyn High, will probably pitch for the leaders.

Manoa, climbing steadily after a poor start, played on Saturday, returning home to Veterans' Field on Sunday to take on Gladwyne. Nick DeFranks and Joe Papiewicz will in all probability draw the initial pitching assignments.

Other Saturday contests and Drexel Hill, with Gene Conway on the slab, playing at Gladwyne, where Harnish or Parrot will hurl. Last-place Collegeville tackles Wayne at Wayne.

Ardmore is at West Manayunk on Sunday when Bill West or Frank Petrellis will attempt to snap the Yunkers' losing streak. The remaining Sunday game lists Collegeville at Norristown, with Joe Golden scheduled to toss his last ball at the Superiors.

Sid Lebrisco, Berwyn centerfielder, made a sensational game-saving, diving catch of Ace Bell's long drive in the eighth inning of Saturday's 3-1 Berwyn win over Wayne. Lebrisco, unconscious, was carried from the field on a stretcher, and rushed to Bryn Mawr Hospital. He had only a severe strain.

In downing Ardmore with three hits, 3-1, on Sunday, Albie Becker, Narberth southpaw, fanned 14 Lion batmen. Becker was caught by his brother, Charlie Becker, marking the first time the two have worked together this year.

Tod MacFarland, pitcher-outfielder, was released by Drexel Hill and signed by Gladwyne. MacFarland, in his only mound start for the Hillers, was blasted for 13 hits and 9-2 setback by Ardmore on Saturday.

Narberth announced the release of pitcher Frank Persutti and catcher Bob Yeasley and the signing of backstop Dan Pierce. Pierce was a batter-mate of ace right-hander George Davidson in Germantown last year.

Joe Golden, Norristown pitcher, set down West Chester with two hits as the County Seaters win, 1-0. The winners were able to get only four hits off West Chester's Dadds.

Walt Beaver will be lost to the Wayne mound staff. The big right-hander has been called out of town indefinitely for business reasons.

Mal Lentz, strong-armed little West Manayunk shortstop, is currently the hottest shortstop in the league. Although playing with a low-placed club, Lentz has been hitting well and has been fielding anything that is hit near him. John Janis is another bright spot; in an otherwise drab Yunker picture.

Charley Schreiner, left-hander, will make Narberth's pitching staff one of the best in the league when he joins the Boroughites as of July 4. Schreiner was Temple University's standout pitcher during the recent collegiate diamond campaign.

Bryn Mawr Holds Montdel Lead

Title Defenders From Narberth Lose Two During Week

If a combination of sheer power coupled with excellent pitching means anything, the Good Counsel team is headed for the Montdel League championship. Skeets Hayes team from Bryn Mawr has muscled its way to second consecutive victories in the circuit using that combination, the latest victim being the St. Lucy's nine, from West Manayunk, who were ground up by a 12-3 score Tuesday night at the Polo Field.

Jim Hickey, leading pitcher of the circuit, wracked up his fourth straight victory for Good Counsel without having to himself too much. The big right-hander was never in danger, for his mates gave him a 5-0 lead as early as the third inning.

The title-defending St. Margaret's team of Narberth lost ground by dividing two games during the week. The borough nine had things all its own way in disposing of St. Lucy's of West Manayunk on the loser's field, Monday.

Bob Tabor broke the Monday game wide open when he sledged a homer with two on in the third to start St. Margaret's on their way to that one-sided triumph over St. Lucy's. Tabor also had two other hits for the winners, while Jim Freeman also collected three safeties.

Jackie Horgan pitched a four-hitter for the borough.

NANCY SLAW TIES FOR GOLF MEDAL

Nancy Slaw, 15-year-old Lower Merion High student, posted a 47-41 88 to share medalist honors as the Philadelphia Junior Girls Golf Championship Tournament opened Monday at Melrose Country Club.

Nancy, a member of the Plymouth Club, tied defending champion Connee, of Old York Road, in the qualifying rounds. The Lower Merion lassie had a birdie 3 on the 14th hole and posted pars on three other units.

BILL SMITH JOINS PHILLIES FARM

Bill Smith, former Haverford High baseballer, became the fourth Villanova athlete in recent weeks to sign with a major league club.

Smith, 23, will join Dan Casey, another ex-Villanova star, at the Vandergriff (Pa.) Club in the Class C Middle Atlantic League. A right-handed hurler, he was signed by Jocko Collins, Phillies' scout.

Junior High Aces Offer Hope As Fords Lose 15 Trackmen

Fifteen members of Haverford High's track team will be unavailable for the 1948 season, according to Coach Bill Cunningham. But a host of promising prospects are coming up from the Junior High and there are a sufficient number of holdovers to hold some hope.

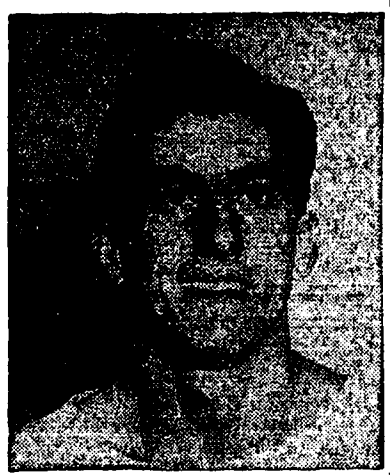

Among those lost by graduation are Bruce Stratton, Bob Schlenzig and Frank Kramer, quarter-mile.

Bryn Mawr and Overbrook scored victories as the Narberth Play-ground Basketball League opened its campaign Monday night with two games on the Narberth Community Center's open air courts.

Bryn Mawr defeated Main Line, 19-16, as Stewart scored six points for the victors and Smith led the losers with seven. Overbrook won West Philadelphia, 39-33. Bink Manning caged 13 points and Greer Heindel had 10 for the victors.

League games will be staged every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings throughout the season. Other circuit members are Brookline, Stonehurst, Lower Merion and Narberth.

Officials include Norman Butz, director, former St. Joseph's College ace; Don Kellett, Penn court coach; Jack Welsh, like Kellett, an ex-Penn basketball star; William (Doc) Howard and Jiggs Torchiana.

By JACK FORD

Don't look now, but the Brookline team is well on its way to busting all records in the Suburban Softball League. At this writing, the Brooks have won eight straight and are trailing Merion's defending champions by a single game.

Merion, managed by Art Conney, has won 13 of 15 tries. Both defeats were administered by Brookline. Penfield Indians, led by lanky Ted Cookinbach, are in line with 10 and 5, while Westgate Hills, Ardwood, Penn Wynne, Penfield Downs and Ardmore all are still in contention.

C. Swain Wilson, Brookline's tub thumper, proudly announces that the Brooks scored their eighth straight by nosing out Ardmore, 6-5. Facing a five-run deficit going into the fifth inning, Brookline scored three in that frame, in the sixth and two more in the seventh to win out.

Wayne Roberts started on the mound for Brookline, but was relieved by Dick Dougherty. Chew, who once was some shakes as a Haverford High and Brookline basketball player, led the winners at bat with three hits and scored the deciding run on Ed Neithcott's pinch single.

Dougherty, incidentally, is one of three brothers performing for the Brooks. Both Dick, who also plays the outfield, and Don Dougherty, shortstop, for West Catholic High football and basketball teams a few years back. And brother Bob, who was one of West Catholic's greatest athletes, later was renowned in the same sports at Penn.

Don Dougherty shares catching chores with Bill McLaughlin. The latter was winning pitcher on Friday as Brookline banged out 16 hits to trim Penfield Indians, 10-7. Phil Clay clouted a triple and Bill Moris collected a double. Brother Bob, who served as Penn basketball coach a few seasons ago, plays shortstop for the Brooks.

Other team members are Walt White, Wayne Roberts and George Kirby, pitchers; Chew, first base; George Wilson, second base; Clay, third base; Chuck Diven, ex-Penn basketballer, shortstop; for West, Dick Wismer and Neithcott, outfielders. White and Fred Marschhausen, father of "Mush," Haverford High athlete, are co-managers.

The Suburban Softball League, one of the fastest circuits in this area, is in its third season. League games are played on Tuesday and Friday nights... and it might be well worth while to stroll to the nearest neighborhood field on either evening.

This summer the U. S. Navy hopes to send Dr. Jean Piccard 100,000 feet into the stratosphere to study scientific phenomena. One hundred balloons, each 57 feet in diameter to support a 400-pound gondola, will be utilized.

Elect Liversidge GE Board Head

Bryan's New President; Declares $1.10 Dividend On Tuesday

The board of directors of the Philadelphia Electric Company Wednesday announced the election of Horace P. Liversidge, Lafayette Rd. and Stong Lane, Bryn Mawr, as chairman of the board. He has been president since 1933, and will continue as executive head of the company.

Concurrently, Liversidge announced that H. B. Byrnes, executive vice-president, was elected president, and that N. E. Funk, vice-president in charge of engineering, was elected executive vice-president and a member of the board of directors.

Directors of Philadelphia Electric Company Tuesday declared dividends of $1.10 a share on the 4.4 per cent Preferred Stock, and 95 cents a share on the 3.8 per cent Preferred Stock, payable August 1 to holders received July 10.

Bryans, newly-elected president, was born and educated in Philadelphia, and is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. He has spent his entire career in the public utility business, beginning with the Philadelphia Gas Works Company.

He is a director of the First National Bank of Philadelphia, of the Midvale Company, a director and a member of the executive committee of the Western Saving Fund Society of Philadelphia and a vice-president of the Union League of Philadelphia.

Funk, newly elected executive vice-president, was born in Bloomsburg, Pa., and is a graduate and a trustee of Lehigh University. He started his business career with the Westinghouse Company and later taught at the Georgia School of Technology.

He has been with the Philadelphia Electric Company for many years and is a national authority on engineering matters.

$2217 Allocated To Churches

Community Chest Now Gives $19,256 to Federation

An increase of $2217 in the Community Chest allocation to the Federation of Churches has been announced by Dr. H. W. Smith, chairman of the Federation's finance committee.

The total Community Chest allocation for the fiscal year which started June 1 is $19,256. Anticipated expenses for the fiscal year total $23,956.20, the deficit to be made through contributions from member churches and individuals. While $4400 of this budget is for special and emergency financial relief, the major portion is used in providing case work service to families.

The Family Service of the Main Line Federation of Churches offers marriage counseling and case work service to all families or individuals in this region, regardless of church membership, or financial status. People find help there with many problems causing unhappiness in marriage, with behavior problems with children, and with other problems resulting from old age, sickness, separation, death, mental illness, neurotic behavior, and unmarried parenthood.

Application for service may be made through any minister, or directly to the Family Service office, 18 Simpson Rd., Ardmore.

JASPER DEETER TO HAVE BUSY DAY JULY 4th

Fourth of July this year will be a busy day for Jasper Deeter, of the Hedgerow Theatre in Moylan. At the 2 o'clock matinee of Susan Glaspell's "Inheritors" he will play the dual roles of Silas Morton, a man of spirit and vision of what America might be and of his dwarfed and feeble-minded son, Ira. In the evening he will be seen in the brilliant role of "Gentlemanly Johnny," known to his more intimate friends as General Burgoyne in the last performance of this season of the Shaw melodrama, "The Devil's Disciple."

KNOW YOUR STATE

PENNSYLVANIA FARMS

The importance of Pennsylvania's agriculture as a source of prosperity to the people of the State is roughly indicated by the total of farm cash income which amounted to nearly $600,000,000 in 1946 as compared with $275,000,000 in 1940. The index of Pennsylvania's farm income has risen much more rapidly since the close of the war than that of the United States as a whole. But the full story of the importance of Pennsylvania's farms both as producers and as customers of industry is not shown by any total which deals with dollars alone.

While our State does not compare in area with most of the States west of the Mississippi the intensive development of agriculture on Pennsylvania soil is shown by the equipment used in cultivating and managing our farms. According to the 1945 Census of Agriculture, there were more than 33,000 stationary gasoline engines reported in Pennsylvania's rural areas. This total is larger than that of the six New England States combined, nearly ten times as many engines as used on the farms of New Jersey, and more than in any of the Southern, Mountain or Pacific States, including Texas and California.

While many Pennsylvania farmers do not use mechanical field equipment as a matter of religious conviction, Pennsylvania's 95,206 tractors were more than those in New York, or in all New England, more than in any three States in the South, and more than any State west of the Mississippi Valley. In 1945, 165,166 automobiles were reported on Pennsylvania's farms. This also exceeded the number in New York State, in all New England, in any State in the Pacific or Mountain region, or in any State in the south but Texas.
